

Lectures In Experimental Methods and Political Economy of Natural Resources

By

Klarizze Anne Martin Puzon, PhD
Swedish University of Agricultural Sciences

22-24 February 2017

The lectures are open to UPSE graduate students

LECTURES IN EXPERIMENTAL METHODS IN ECONOMICS

- Tentative topics: Social preferences, public good games, anti-social behaviour, markets, risk aversion and time preferences, environmental and natural resource management
- Lectures and discussions, hands-on games
- 22-24 February 2017 at 9-12 am in UPSEAA Room, UPSE Library Building

LECTURES IN THE POLITICAL ECONOMY OF NATURAL RESOURCES

- Tentative topic: Resource curse
- Lectures and discussions
- 22-24 February 2017 at 2-4 pm in UPSEAA Room, UPSE Library Building

About the lecturer

Klarizze Anne Martin Puzon, PhD, is currently a researcher at the Swedish University of Agricultural Sciences and at the Center for Environmental and Resource Economics in Sweden. She earned her degrees from the UP School of Economics (BSE, magna cum laude, 2008), Toulouse School of Economics (Master in Economics, with honours, 2011) and University of Montpellier (PhD Econ, with highest distinction and felicitation from the jury, 2015). Her research interests include resource economics, environmental economics, public economics and experimental economics. Her publications have appeared in the European Economic Review, Journal of Economic Dynamics and Control, International Journal of Green Economics and International Journal of Social Welfare.

To enlist, please send an email to research@econ.upd.edu.ph or call 9279686 loc 232.
State your name, year and graduate program, and preferred lecture.